Mr. Manuel Dittenheimer

Dear Mr. Dittenheimer:

On behalf of Mr. Dulles who is out of the country on a brief visit, I would like to acknowledge and thank you for your letter of 15 June.

We have read your comments with interest and appreciate your patriotic interest in writing to us as you did.

Sincerely,

Signed

AIR MAIL

In the issue of "El Mundo" newspaper published June 15, 1960 at San Juan, Puerto Rico, I read a very interesting article dealing with the use of telepathy for obtaining factual and security information relative to the external operations and movements of foreign groups negative to our Democratic Government.

There are natural born "sensitives" which can be used on the spot in connection with this program and they may be developed more widely with the use of other standard or scientific patterns.

Physical health, mental capacity, well being and particularly psychological health are conditions inherent of a well developed sensitive.

The sensitive groups should be stationed as near as possible to the "spot" areas. Distant concentration is jeopardized by the presence of multiple band waves constantly crossing the ether, thus causing interference.

Central Intelligence Agency - #2 - 6-15-60

We have reached a point of development in safe practices which through telepathy would be "spy proof" and with less dollar expense.

Please excuse me if I have been mentioning something that you know already, but in Puerto Rico there are lots of sensitives: people with high academic background willing to operate.....

I have taken the liberty of writing your agency, just because I like peace and that we as human beings do the best to unite the world.

Very truly yours,

Victor M. de la Torre
